16 FEBRUARY 1978

SPECIAL MEETING OF GENERAL FACULTIES COUNCIL

A special meeting of General Faculties Council was held on Monday, 6 February, to consider the revised report of the President's Committee on University Legislation.

The President's Committee was struck in 1976 to consider the size and structure of GFC and its major committees. The first report of the Committee recommended a GFC (renamed "University Council") of forty members, thirteen administrators, fourteen elected faculty members, and thirteen students. Major standing committees would also be reduced in size, with at least partial integration of their membership with the parent body.

After discussion of the first report with faculties and with the GFC Executive Committee, and after receiving submissions from faculties, individuals, the Students' Union, and the Academic Staff Association, the President's Committee prepared a revised report, proposing a University Council of sixty-seven members. The proposed membership was increased to permit a ratio of approximately 1 to 2 to 2 of administrators to elected faculty to students (actually 13 to 27 to 27).

In both reports, eight deans were to be elected by Deans' Council, with faculties having the choice to elect their dean as a faculty representative if he or she were not elected by Deans' Council. At present, all deans are members of Council as part of the contingent of administrators. Both reports also excluded from membership those other than senior administrators (the President and the three Vice-Presidents), students and teaching staff; at present, the University Librarian and the Registrar are voting members of GFC, as are representatives of Administrative/Professional Officers, Professional Librarians, and nonacademic staff.

To allow full debate on the revised report, GFC voted to resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole. The Committee of the Whole was chaired by Myer Horowitz, Vice-President (Academic), the President having stepped down from the chair to participate in the discussion. The Committee of the Whole elected to consider the eight resolutions of the President's Committee separately, rather than as a unit. In effect, it considered only the first resolution of the President's Committee, as modified by the GFC Executive:

"1 (a) That the composition of General Faculties Council be altered by reducing the membership to approximately one-half of the present complement of 136, and 1 (b) That the present ratio of administrators to staff to students of 1 to 2 to 2 be preserved."

The Committee of the Whole discussed both parts of this resolution in depth for approximately three and one-half hours. Taking resolution 1(b) first, it recommended that the existing ratio of administrators to staff to students be preserved. It defeated resolution 1(a), essentially the key resolution in the report.

Immediately following the defeat of this resolution and without further consideration of the report of the President's Committee, the Committee of the Whole voted to report its recommendations to GFC. Because no changes were recommended for the size, structure, or composition of GFC, no new motions were required. Dr. Horowitz, reporting the Committee's findings to Council, suggested that "it would be wise for the University not to pursue this matter for a while."

Dr. Gunning commented that he felt that the debate and soul-searching about the role of General Faculties Council had been valuable to Council and to the University as a whole.

Le Souper and an evening of Early Baroque

On 2 March, under the patronage of President and Mrs. Gunning, the Guild for Mediaeval and Renaissance Studies will be holding a feast again this year. Unlike last year's feast with its Elizabethan theme, however, the Guild has chosen the early seventeenth century or Baroque period as the historical source for its central theme. And rather than a banquet, le souper will be served—the term "banquet" being strictly reserved for sacredotal functions during the Baroque period and le souper for less formal, more intimate dining. But guests will not be disappointed in either the fare or the festivities.

Les soupiers will be greeted by madrigal singers under the direction of Larry Cooke, professor in the Department of Music. International songs of the period—works by Byrd, Passereau, Vautor, and Janequin have been selected.

The menu was researched and planned by Marion Norman of the Department of English. She relied, in part, upon the 1655 edition of François La Varenne's cookbook, the first of its kind published in France. And so, after the University of Alberta Grace has been pronounced by former Provost Aylmer Ryan, Le souper will begin with hors d'oeuvres such as stuffed artichoke hearts, mushrooms, devilled eggs, and gateau de foies blonds de volailles. The second course, soup Bourbon, was named for Count Robert, the sixth son of Louis IX, and will be followed by fish Anthony, so named for the famous scientist of the day, Anthony de Leuvenhock. The main course includes coq au vin de Bordeaux, fried eggplant, green peas with mint de Madame de Maintenon (named after a mistress of the king who was quite well noted for her hospitality) and Brussels sprouts hollandaise. A lettuce salad will be served with this course, an important addition since it was introduced to France as a food for human consumption by the author Rabelais during this period. Dessert includes tangerines, pears, and cointreau.

While guests enjoy each course, there will be musical interludes—more madrigals, works for string ensemble, and pieces by Couperin and Morley will be played by harpsichordist Tim Bower. They will also be treated not only to English, Flemish, and French dances but, in keeping with the international atmosphere of the evening, to a Spanish play, Dog in the Manger, written between 1613 and 1615. Set in Naples near the end of the sixteenth century, Lope de Vega's play is an energetic satire on romantic comedy.

Like last year, guests are encouraged to dress in the style of the period. Ideas may be gleaned by studying the paintings of artists like Lorraine, Watteau, Chardin, or van Delft. However, formal attire is quite acceptable.

An evening of Early Baroque begins at 6 p.m. on 2 March in the Lister Banquet Hall. Tickets are $17.50 for members and students and $20 for non-members. Tickets are available from Frank Thomas, telephone 454-2969. Interested persons should note that there is a limit of 240 places and that reservations close on 23 February. Patrons may consult the seating plan and indicate where and with whom they wish to be seated.

Although this is only the second such elaborate evening where period dress is encouraged and authenticity strictly adhered to, the Guild for Mediaeval and Renaissance Studies has been meeting regularly since 1960. It was founded by a group of scientists and mathematicians who wished to promote better communication between the various disciplines in the arts and sciences. At monthly meetings, members give and afterwards discuss papers derived from each speaker's field of specialization but with a conscious focus on man, his universe, his creativity. Thus, paper topics have ranged from a discussion of owls in Mediaeval iconography to the concept of madness in the Middle Ages to Indians visiting Europe in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The Guild is comprised of some fifty members and the annual membership rate is $2.50. However, all interested persons are encouraged to attend the lectures—and the annual banquet.

PEOPLE

■ Phil Arnold, General Executive Secretary of the Non-Academic Staff Association since its inception to late 1976, has been awarded the Queen's Silver Jubilee Medal. This medal is awarded to members of the community as an expression of appreciation of exemplary service rendered by the recipients and as an evidence of the esteem in which they are held.

■ Henry L. Janzen, Associate Professor, Department of Psychology and Director of the Psychological Testing Centre, Faculty of Education Clinical Services, has recently been named as Canadian Liaison for the International School Psychology Committee. Persons who are interested in this area of study should contact Dr. Janzen or write to the Secretariat, LSP, 92 Dawson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio, USA, 43209.

■ Milan V. Dimić, Professor of Comparative Literature, recently visited the University of British Columbia at the invitation of the Departments of English and Comparative Literature. He gave a lecture on "The doubtful self: the motif of the double in Baroque literature," and a talk on "Comparative Literature in Canada: trends in teaching and research." Professor Dimić also recently attended the meetings of the Executive and Coordinating Committee of the International Comparative Literature Association at the University of London, England. He presented three reports to the Association on its finances and editorial policies.

■ Gloria Strathern, Associate Professor, and Charles H. Davis, Dean, Faculty of Library Science, attended the January meeting of the Association of American Library Schools in Chicago. Mrs. Strathern is President of the Canadian Association of Library Science Schools, an organization affiliated to the AALS, and Dr. Davis chairs the AALS Research Committee.

NOTICES

Notices must reach the Editor by 9 a.m. the Thursday prior to publication. Written notification is necessary

NASA Dance

The Non-Academic Staff Association is sponsoring a dance on 25 February in the Lister Hall Cafeteria. From 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. there will be dancing and refreshments. A buffet will also be served. The band is the "Sound Investment." Tickets are $15 per couple or $8 per person, and they are available only in advance from NASA representatives. Everyone is welcome. For tickets or further information contact M.J. Egilsson, telephone 432-4265.

Young Professionals Program

The World Bank will soon be recruiting postgraduate students of Canadian nationality or landed immigrant status for its Young Professionals Program. Faculty members are asked to recommend interested students who are of high quality and who may be suitable for bank work. The next two dates for selection of candidates for the Program will be in April and October. For further information and application forms contact Terry Krissie, Office of Student Affairs, 225 Athabasca Hall, telephone 432-5396.

Sample Survey Seminar

The Population Research Laboratory of the Department of Sociology is organizing a one-day research seminar on the topic "Sample Surveys." The seminar is designed for people involved in survey research to improve their understanding of the whole sample survey process. There will be four major sessions: Problem Solving, Sampling, Questionnaire Design, and Analysis. The seminar is scheduled for 7 March from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The cost of the seminar, including lunch, is $35 per person. For further information contact Ilze Hobin, telephone 432-4569.

Dental Hygiene Clinic

The School of Dental Hygiene is accepting adults and children for oral prophylaxis (teeth cleaning). There will be a nominal fee. For appointments please telephone 432-4151.

NASA Mixed Bonspiel

The NASA Mixed Bonspiel will be held 25 and 26 February at the Students' Union Building curling rink. The entry fee for the Bonspiel is $40. To enter contact Lana Southern, telephone 432-3762.

Department of Music Honors Violet Archer

The Department of Music is planning a special day in honor of Violet Archer, distinguished composer, who is retiring at the end of this year. Two of the featured events of Monday, 20 February, will be the visit of Larry Austin, composer and former student of Dr. Archer, and an evening performance of one of Dr. Archer's most recent compositions.

Mr. Austin, who lives and works in Tampa, Florida, will present a lecture from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. His lecture is planned in three parts: "The sketches for Charles Ives' Universe Symphony"; "Reminiscences of Violet Archer, teacher"; and a taped performance of several works by Larry Austin followed by discussion.

The concert will take place at 8 p.m. in Convocation Hall. Sonata for Violincello

Nominations to the Senate of The University of Alberta

We welcome nominations from the public for several vacancies on the University Senate. Members are volunteers who serve on Task Forces and Committees ranging from selection of candidates for honorary degrees to subjects concerning the academic community. Senate meets formally four times a year.

"It is the duty of the Senate to inquire into any matter that might tend to enhance the usefulness of the University." There are no formal qualification requirements, but consideration will be given to community service of nominees from central and northern Alberta.

Nominators should provide a brief résumé and statement of their reasons for nominating the candidate. Appointments are for three-year terms beginning July 1, 1978.

We encourage interested people to submit written nominations no later than February 18, 1978 to:

and Piano, composed in 1976, will be performed for the first time, featuring Carolyn Kenneson, Claude Kenneson, and Janet Scott. The cantata, The Bell (1949), will also be performed by the St. Cecilia Orchestra and the University Concert Choir under the direction of Larry Cooke.

Two piano works of Professor Archer's were also recently heard in premiere performances. The first of these, "Three Improvisations," was performed by Edmonton pianist Robert Pounder in a recital at Alberta College on 15 January. "Sonata" was given its American premiere in a recital of twentieth century music at Louisiana State University. Professor Archer also recently became the recipient of a Queen's Jubilee Silver Medal.

Science Dining Club

The Science Dining Club will meet at 6 p.m. on Thursday, 23 February. Professor I.A. Campbell of the Department of Geography will speak on "The Red Deer Badlands." Dinner will follow in the Saskatchewan Room of the Faculty Club. Reservations should be made by 21 February by contacting Mrs. Grant, Faculty of Science, telephone 432-4757.

Jock Macdonald Monograph

Joyce Zemans, Chairman of the Department of Visual Arts at York University, is preparing a monograph on J.W.G. (Jock) Macdonald. Anyone having information about the locations of Macdonald's work, or information regarding his life as an artist and a teacher should contact Professor Zemans. She would also appreciate the names of individuals whom she might contact regarding such information. Any help would be greatly appreciated, and she may be contacted by writing to: Joyce Zemans, Chairman, Department of Visual Arts, Faculty of Fine Arts, York University, 4700 Keele Street, Downsview, Ontario, M3J 1P3.

Canadian Arctic Resources Workshop

The Canadian Arctic Resources Committee is sponsoring the Second National Workshop on People, Resources, and the Environment North of 60° on 20, 21, and 22 February at the Hotel Macdonald. The session titled "Native Land Claims" will be held 21 February at 8 p.m., and there is no charge for anyone wishing to attend this session.

"Native Land Claims" will be chaired by George Manuel, President, Union of British Columbia Indian Chiefs. Other native groups represented at the meeting will be the Committee for the Original People's Entitlement, the Council of Yukon Indians, the Northwest Territories Indian Brotherhood, the Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, and representatives from several Metis associations. A question and answer period will follow the formal presentation.

Boreal Library Acquisitions

The Boreal Institute for Northern Studies Library has recently acquired the detailed scientific and technical information filed in support of Polar Gas's pipeline applications. This information has been provided to selected public, university, and community libraries.

Theatre and You

The "Houselighters" of the Citadel Theatre will be sponsoring the next session of their theatre education program, "Theatre and You," from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. on 23 February at the Citadel Theatre. The topic will be the next Rice Theatre production of Ashes. Everyone is invited to attend this series, which is intended to increase understanding and enjoyment of various aspects of live theatre. Admission is $1. Further information can be obtained by telephoning 439-4225 or 479-7826.

Copyright Workshop

A Workshop "Copyright in Canada," sponsored by the Edmonton Library Association and the Faculty of Library Science, will be held on 10 March from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Cromdale Campus of Grant MacEwan College. The purpose of the Workshop is to inform the library community and other interested persons about the implications of the proposed revisions of the Canadian Copyright Law. Because of the complexity of Copyright Law, applicants will be provided with a package of materials to be examined before the workshop. The fee for the Workshop is $15 for E.L.A. and L.R.C. members, $20 for non-members, and $15 for library technicians and Library Science students. The deadline for registration is 24 February. Further information is available from John Wright, telephone 432-5314.

Funding Available

The Alma Mater Fund now has money available to assist groups on campus in financing worth-while projects. The Fund is the vehicle through which the alumni annually make financial contributions to the University. Gifts are made with the understanding that they are to be used for projects which give an added dimension to University activities.

In order to be eligible for Alma Mater Fund support, a project should have a strong student and student-community orientation, and not be of a type normally funded from general University operating or research funds. The Alma Mater Fund is not intended to finance salary expenses, and proposed projects should not be designed to advance academic careers of individual students. Grants will not be made for the support of existing publications, and they are normally made to a project only once. Organizers of continuing projects should not expect annual support from the Fund.

The last date for application is 20 February 1978. The applications should include a description of the project, background information on the group making application, and a proposed project budget. Applications should be submitted to Theresa Papirnik, Secretary, Alma Mater Fund Allocations Committee, 422 Athabasca Hall. For further information telephone 432-4256.

Credit Union Vacancies

Nominations are being accepted for five vacancies available for Directorships on the Board of Directors with the University of Alberta Employees Savings and Credit Union. Nominations will close on 28 February, and anyone interested in the position should contact A.J. Logan, telephone 432-4781.

The Credit Union is also looking for volunteers who would be willing to serve on the Supervisory Committee. Volunteers would be required to make quarterly examinations of the financial affairs of the Credit Union, and audit the books at year's end. Those people interested in serving on the Supervisory Committee should contact Walter Cherniki, telephone 452-5631.

French Courses

The School of the Alliance Française, a non-profit organization, is conducting French courses for adults and children. For further information, please telephone 433-7946 or 466-7960.

General Faculties Council

Meeting Re-scheduled

Because the scheduled February meeting of Council falls in Reading Week this year, it is proposed to hold this meeting on the following Monday, 16 March. The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the Council Chamber of University Hall.

Selection of Chairman

In accordance with General Faculties Council policy, this gives notice that the Committee to select a Chairman for the Department of Anthropology will soon make a recommendation for the appointment of a suitable candidate. The effective date of appointment is 1 July 1978. At this stage, the Committee is not considering outside candidates. Anyone having any views regarding this matter, or anyone who wishes to be considered for the position or to suggest candidates, should contact Baha Abu-Laban, Associate Dean of Arts and Chairman of the Committee to Select a Chairman for the Department of Anthropology, telephone 432-4221. Relevant communications should be received by 22 February 1978. The post is open for men and women.

Income Tax Relief for Full-Time Students

Students are reminded that paragraph 110 (1) (g) of the Income Tax Act authorizes a deduction of $50 from the declared income of a student for each month during which he was a student in full-time attendance at a designated educational institution, and enrolled in a qualifying educational program, inclusive of the month in which a course starts and ends. Full-time students are defined as those taking three or more single-term courses in a university term. See § 15.2.2 of the University Calendar.

For the 1977 tax year (January 1, 1977, through December 31, 1977), students claiming the deduction are requested to submit a completed "Educational Deduction Certificate" (Revenue Canada form T2202) with their individual income tax returns. An authorizing signature confirming enrollment by the student's institution is NOT REQUIRED to complete form T2202 for the 1977 tax year.

Education Deduction Certificates can be obtained from the District Taxation Office. The University of Alberta will NOT be certifying these forms for the 1977 tax year.
